The rules regarding postal voting are in force in British India - but postal voting has been abolished in Myore. Hence it is not possible to find a precedent in British Indian Electoral rules.

~~The amendment proposed in the draft will be in place of the receipt which a voter would get from the post office under the repealed rules relating to postal voting~~

The acknowledgment proposed in the draft will be in place of the receipt which a voter would get from the post office under the repealed rules relating to postal voting.

Extract from
Letter dated the 10th March 1930, from Mr. S.Venkatapathiah, B.A., LL.B., Advocate, Bangalore, to the Registrar, Mysore University, Mysore.

With reference to your communications ending with No.20979-21065, dated the 4th March 1930, on the subject of voting, I feel constrained to note, though late, that, in the present arrangements, no reference is left with the voter to bear evidence of the fact of his handing over the sealed envelope to a polling officer.

Some such reference is necessary to act as a guarantee of the destination, in the place of the sealed ballot box in the case of the general voting.
